MALIK SEALY

FEBRUARY 1, 1970 - MAY 20, 2000

Malik Sealy was tragically killed in an automobile accident on May 20, 2000.

A true professional, Sealy was actively involved in a wide variety of charities including serving on the board of Wheelchair Charities Inc. and the Bronx Police Athletic League. He was a regular visitor to the Ronald McDonald House in Minneapolis as well as taking an active role in various school programs. He ran basketball clinics in conjunction with the Refugee Project at the Camp Hill Summer program in North Carolina.

Malik was recruited by universities all over the country. He chose to attend St. John's University of New York in order to remain near his family. He played small forward on the St. John's University basketball team. Because of his smooth offensive skills and adaptability on the court, Malik earned the nickname "Silk". Malik won many awards during his college baskeball career at St. John's including the Frank G. Haggarty Award in 1992. He was named All-American and was elected to the Big East Men's Basketball First Team in his senior year.

After graduating from St. John's University with a bachelor's degree in business in 1992, Malik was the 14th overall draft pick by the NBA's Indiana Pacers. He spent three years with the Pacers, two years with the Los Angeles Clippers and one year with the Detroit Pistons before joining the Woves as a free agent in 1999.

A member of the Minnesota Timberwolves for the past two seasons, Sealy was coming off one of his finest seasons of his eight-year NBA career in 1999-00. He played in all 82 games, the last 60 as a starter, helping the Timberwolves to their first 50-win season.

A self described "Renaissance Man," Sealy was much more than a basketball player. He started a men's accessories company, Malik Sealy XXI, Inc., designing and selling neckties. He opened Baseline Recording Studios in Manhattan this spring. He also enjoyed acting, appearing in the movie "Eddie" as well as making guest appearances on television's "The Sentinel" and "Diagnosis Murder."

Malik is survived by his wife Lisa; their three-year old son, Malik Remington (Remi), who Malik affectionately refered to as "my little man "; his parents Sidney and Ann Sealy; his brothers, Sidney Jr., Dessalines, and Amir and his sister Raqiba.

"As for me, I am already being poured out as a libation, and the time of my departure has come. I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. From now on there is reserved for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will give me one day, and not only to me but also to all who have longed for his appearing."

II Timothy 4:22

BILL MUSSELMAN

AUGUST 13, 1940 - MAY 5, 2000

The Timberwolves lost a member of their original family when the franchise's first head coach, Bill Musselman, died on May 5. Musselman, 59, will be remembered by Minnesota basketball fans as a fiery coach who got the most out of his teams. Musselman coached the University of Minnesota Golden Gophers from 1971-75. His 1971-72 squad won the Big Ten Conference championship - the first outright Big Ten Championship by a Gophers team in 53 years. In the 1980s, Musselman won four consecutive Continental Basketball Association (CBA) titles. With the Timberwolves, Musselman compiled a record of 51-113.

Timberwolves head coach Flip Saunders played for Musselman at the University of Minnesota and later coached against him in the CBA. Saunders credits Musselman for Minnesota's solid basketball fan base. "The popularity of basketball in the state of Minnesota would not be what it is with out him," said Saunders.

Timberwolves forward Sam Mitchell played for Musselman in the CBA and with the Timberwolves. "If you didn't know Bill Musselman, you missed out," Mitchell said at Musselman's memorial service in Minnesota. "Once you played for him, you didn't want to play for anyone else because Bill loved his players. If you gave him everything you had, he would give it back to you."

Musselman is survived by his wife Julie, sons Eric and Max, and daughter Nicole.

GLEN TAYLOR

OWNER

On March 23, 1995, Glen Taylor closed the deal that made him majority owner of the Minnesota Timberwolves. He added the title of NBA franchise owner to a list that already includes international businessman, state senator, entrepreneur, philanthropist and executive of the year.

Before he even completed his first full season as owner, Taylor set in motion his plan for making a mark on the Minnesota sports scene. Prior to the completion of the sale of the team from Marv Wolfenson and Harvey Ratner, Taylor had installed Rob Moor and Roger Griffith as the team's new president and chief financial officer, respectively, and promoted Minnesota and NBA basketball legend, Kevin McHale, to assistant general manager. With the move of McHale to vice president of basketball operations and the addition of general manager (and now head coach) Phil "Flip" Saunders and director of scouting and player development (and now assistant coach) Jerry Sichting, Taylor has assembled a basketball staff with years of experience in the pro ranks.

Taylor is CEO and Chairman of the Board of Taylor Corporation, located in Mankato, Minn., 75 miles southwest of the Twin Cities. The Taylor companies, which are involved in the printing, marketing and electronics industries, include more than 70 operating divisions in 19 states, three Canadian provinces, the United Kingdom, Australia and Mexico. Their employees number more than 12,000, including more than 5,000 Minnesotans.

Taylor built his company from modest beginnings. While a student at Mankato State University in 1959, he took a part-time job at Carlson Wedding Service. Fifteen years later, in 1974, he acquired a majority interest in the company, laying the foundation for what would soon grow into Taylor Corporation. Taylor Corporation is the nation's largest printer of wedding invitations, controlling more than half that market. Many of the companies' products are sold through independent vendors such as gift and stationery stores.

Taylor's business savvy has been recognized by Corporate Report magazine, which honored him as its Executive of the Year, and the Sales and Marketing Executives of Minneapolis/St. Paul, who awarded him with their Sales Executive of the Year Award.

Taylor was elected to the Minnesota Senate in 1980, where he served until 1990. He became assistant Senate minority leader in 1982. From 1984 to 1986, he served as Senate minority leader. While in the Senate, Taylor was instrumental in providing leadership in the areas of higher education, child care and economic development policies.

Through personal involvement, Taylor has remained active in many civic and charitable causes. In Mankato, he has served as YMCA President, Chamber of Commerce Director, Mankato Jaycees President and United Way Campaign Chairman. He has also served on his church's board of deacons and board of trustees and on the Mankato State University Foundation board of directors. On the state level, Taylor has served as the director of the Minnesota Business Partnership, director of the Greater Minnesota Corporation and president of the International Thermographers Association.

Nationally, Taylor has provided expert testimony on business and child care issues to the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives and served as a committee chair on the 1991 Commission on Reform and Efficiency (CORE).

In 1997, Mankato State University awarded Taylor its first honorary doctorate. Taylor received the degree of Honorary Doctor of Laws for his distinguished professional career and volunteer service.

Taylor was born April 20, 1941, and raised on a farm 60 miles west of his current home in Mankato. He graduated from Comfrey (Minn.) High School in 1959. In just three years, he earned his bachelor's degree from Mankato State University. He later continued his education at the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

KEVIN McHALE

V.P. OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

On Oct. 1, 1999, Kevin McHale was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. In the typical McHale style, he gave credit to his teammates for helping him to get there. But no one goes into the Hall of Fame without a lot of hard work and personal accomplishment. McHale's Hall of Fame career was marked by his constant desire to improve his play and single-minded focus to win every game he played. That's how he played the game as a power forward/center in Boston, and that is how he is trying to build the Timberwolves team as the vice president of basketball operations in Minnesota.

McHale wasted no time in working to improve the Timberwolves. One of McHale's first moves came shortly after he was named to his current post on May 11, 1995 – he selected high-school phenom Kevin Garnett with the fifth overall pick in the 1995 NBA Draft. Considered a bold move at the time, McHale and his staff were rewarded with an outstanding rookie campaign from Garnett. Garnett's improvement and McHale's continual reshaping of the Wolves' roster have resulted in four consecutive years of playoff basketball in Minnesota.

McHale has had a history of success in the game of basketball. In high school, he led Hibbing to the Minnesota Class AA State Basketball Tournament title game; in college, he posted a career average of 15.2 points and 8.5 rebounds per game in four seasons at the University of Minnesota, earning first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1979 and 1980; and in the pro ranks, he joined the Boston Celtics for three NBA championships, the first coming in his rookie season with the team.

McHale continued that tradition of quick successes with the Timberwolves, moving from special assistant in 1993-94 to assistant general manager in 1994-95 to his latest endeavor as vice president of basketball operations. In that role, McHale is responsible for the franchise's entire basketball operations department – overseeing player personnel decisions, scouting and the coaching staff.

In McHale's first season with the Wolves, 1993-94, he served as a special assistant to the coaching staff. That position utilized the experience of his lengthy basketball career, which culminated in the retiring of his pro, college and high-school game jerseys. In August 1994, he was promoted to a newly-created position of assistant general manager.

With the demands of his vice-president position, McHale relinquished his broadcasting duties with the Wolves. For two seasons, 1993-95, fans enjoyed the insight and wit he brought to his broadcast analysis on the Timberwolves Television Network. His unique style and perspective, combined with the talents of Kevin Harlan, Chad Hartman and Tom Hanneman, made for one of the top local broadcasts in the NBA.

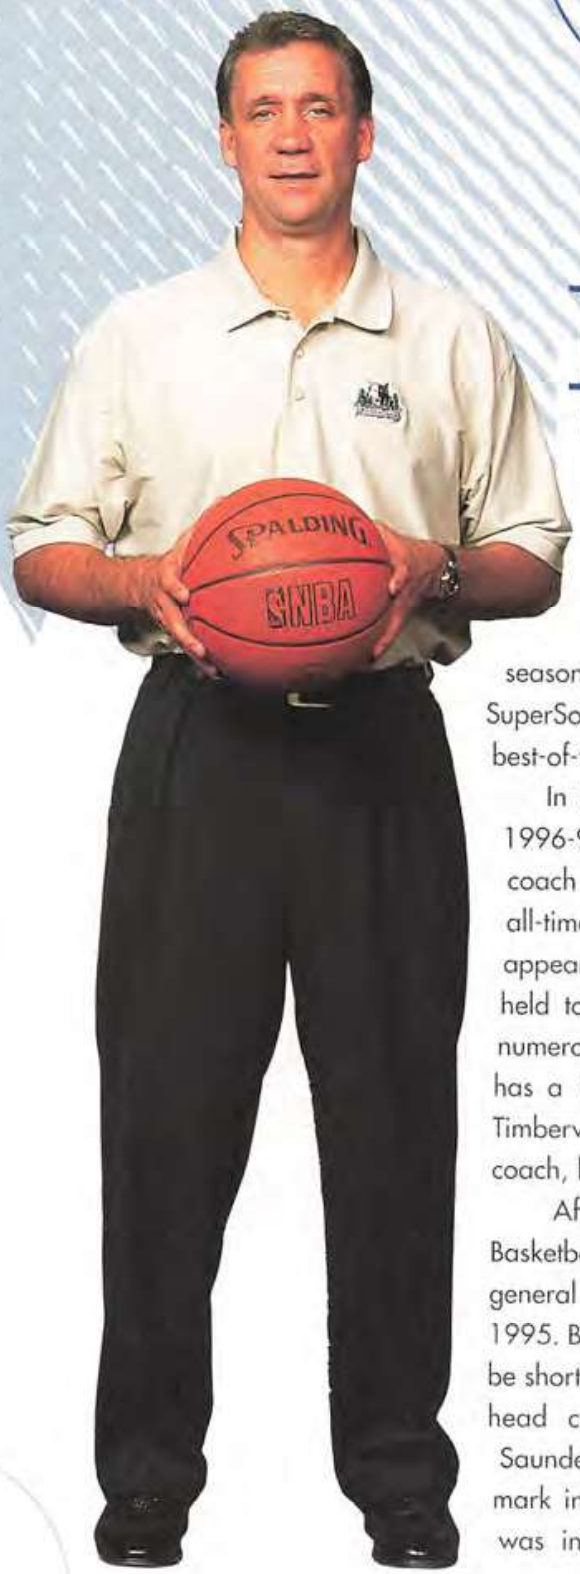
Prior to coming to the Timberwolves organization, McHale played 13 seasons for the Celtics before retiring in the spring of 1993. A first-round selection (third overall) by Boston in the 1980 NBA Draft, McHale helped lead the Celtics to three NBA championships (1981, 1984 and 1986), five Eastern Conference titles and eight Atlantic Division crowns. He was voted the NBA's top sixth man twice (1984, 1985) and was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1987. He was also named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team three times (1986, 1987 and 1988). The 6 ft.-10 in. forward/center averaged 17.9 points and 7.3 rebounds in 971 regular-season career games. He shot an impressive 55.4 percent from the floor and 79.8 percent at the free throw line. In 169 postseason contests, McHale upped his averages to 18.8 points and 7.4 rebounds.

In addition to being named to the Basketball Hall of Fame, McHale has received other honors for his basketball prowess. On July 8, 2000, he was inducted in the National High School Sports Hall of Fame. On Feb. 18, 1995, he was honored as the top player in U of M men's basketball history, as the school celebrated its 100th anniversary in the sport. During the 1997 All-Star Game in Cleveland, McHale was honored as one of the NBA's Top 50 Players for the league's first half-century.

A native of Hibbing, Minn., McHale was born Dec. 19, 1957. He and his wife, Lynn, along with their five children, Kristyn, Michael, Joseph, Alexandra and Thomas, reside in North Oaks, Minn.

FLIP SAUNDERS

GENERAL MANAGER/HEAD COACH



For Timberwolves general manager and head coach Phil "Flip" Saunders, each season brings a new milestone. During the 1999-2000 season, Saunders led the Wolves to an all-time high 50 victories and a fourth consecutive postseason appearance.

In 1997-98, Saunders coached the Wolves to their first-ever winning season (45-37). He also led the team to its first-ever post-season victory – as the Timberwolves beat the Seattle SuperSonics twice before falling in the final game of the best-of-five playoff series.

In his first full season as the team's head coach, 1996-97, Saunders became the all-time winningest coach in franchise history, leading the team to a then all-time best record (40-42) and its first-ever playoff appearance. During the 1998-99 season, Saunders held together a club that lost two key players and numerous others to injury to record a 25-25 mark. He has a 180-178 (.503) record in 358 games at the Timberwolves' helm. In his four full seasons as head coach, he has a 160-136 (.541) mark.

After seven seasons as a coach in the Continental Basketball Association (CBA), Saunders was named general manager of the Timberwolves on May 11, 1995. But his stay in a front-office-only capacity was to be short-lived. On Dec. 18, 1995, he added the title of head coach to his resume', replacing Bill Blair. Saunders guided the Timberwolves to a 20-42 (.323) mark in 62 games during the 1995-96 season, and was instrumental in the significant development of rookie Kevin Garnett and a change in the team's attitude on the floor and in the locker room.

Saunders' record of basketball coaching success has a history of its own. He ranks third all-time in the CBA with 253 victories. He began his CBA career in 1988-89 with the Rapid City (S.D.) Thrillers, then moved on to the La Crosse (Wis.) Catbirds for five seasons (1989-94) before coaching the 1994-95 campaign with the Sioux Falls (S.D.) Skyforce. He also served as general manager (1991-93) and team president (1991-94) of the Catbirds.

Saunders' impressive coaching resume' includes seven consecutive seasons of 30-or-more victories, two CBA championships (1990, 1992), two CBA Coach of the Year honors (1989, 1992) and 23 CBA-to-NBA player promotions.

Saunders began his successful coaching career at Golden Valley Lutheran College where he compiled a 92-13 record, including a perfect 56-0 mark at home, in four seasons. In 1981, he joined the coaching staff at his alma mater – the University of Minnesota – as an assistant and helped coach the Golden Gophers to the 1982 Big Ten championship. After five seasons at Minnesota, he moved to an assistant coach position at the University of Tulsa where he worked for two seasons before heading to the pro ranks.

Saunders was an All-America basketball player at Cuyahoga Heights High School in Cleveland. In his senior season, 1973, he was named Ohio's Class A High School Basketball Player of the Year after averaging a state-high 32.0 points a game. He continued his basketball career at Minnesota where he started 101 of his 103 career contests. As a senior, he teamed with Kevin McHale, the Timberwolves' vice president of basketball operations, to lead the Gophers to a then all-time school-best 24-3 record.

Saunders was born Feb. 23, 1955 in Cleveland, Ohio. Flip and his wife, Debbie, have four children: Ryan, Mindy and twins, Rachel and Kimberly.

NOVEMBER (7-5)

By defeating Denver on Nov. 30, the Wolves finished up their best November ever and were in second place in the Midwest Division, winning six of eight home games. The Denver win marked the sixth consecutive time Minnesota had beaten the Nuggets at Target Center. Minnesota split its two-game set with Sacramento at Tokyo Dome, taking a 114-101 victory in the finale (Nov. 6) after dropping a 100-95 decision on opening night. The trip was the Wolves' first-ever excursion beyond North America. The next two home games against New York and Phoenix brought additional victories for Minnesota and garnered forward Kevin Garnett the title of NBA Player of the Week for games played Nov. 8-14. Garnett led the Wolves to a 2-0 record for the week averaging 25.5 ppg, 13.0 rpg and 5.0 apg. It was his second such award, having previously earned Player of the Week honors once last season (Mar. 29-Apr. 4, 1999). On Monday, Nov. 22, at Utah, forward Sam Mitchell put in six points to become the Timberwolves' all-time leading scorer, surpassing Doug West (6216). The next road game was a loss to Denver at Pepsi Center, making the Wolves' November record 1-3 for away games. Forwards Tom Hammonds, Joe Smith and Sam Mitchell all were on the active roster for the opening month, despite missing the entire preseason due to injuries.

DECEMBER (6-9,13-14)

The Wolves suffered an eight-game losing streak in the first half of December, being outscored by an average of 12.8 ppg. The Dec. 23 win over Seattle pulled Minnesota out of a four-game slide at Target Center, their longest home drought since November of 1997. It was Flip Saunders' 300th game as head coach of the Timberwolves, ranking him fifth on the NBA seniority list for longest tenure with his current team. Minnesota then proceeded to go on a five-game winning streak, beating three of the teams they lost to in a previous meeting that month. Forward Kevin Garnett was named NBA Player of the Week for games played Dec. 20-26, during which he led the Wolves to a 3-0 record by averaging 23.0 ppg, 15.0 rpg, 4.7 apg and 2.70 bpg, notching three straight double-doubles. It was his second award this season and third of his career. By grabbing nine rebounds on Dec. 28 at Miami, Garnett also pushed past Sam Mitchell into first place on the Wolves' all-time rebounding chart. In the Dec. 27 win at Orlando, the Wolves handed out 35 assists, the fourth time the team posted 30 or more or assists. It was Malik Sealy's tip-in at the buzzer that left the Wolves ahead 107-105. In the same game, Garnett set franchise records for rebounds in a game (23), half (19, 1st) and quarter (12, 1st). Five days after beating Chicago by their biggest margin of victory ever against the Bulls (106-86), Minnesota closed out the year with a second win against Chicago at Target Center. In front of a sellout crowd, the Wolves kept the lead they gained in the first quarter and gained their first-ever series sweep against the Bulls.

JANUARY (12-3, 25-17)

The Wolves entered the new millennium by completing another five-game winning streak, with three wins at Target Center. Miami had interrupted the Wolves' streak earlier and they did it again on Jan. 11, dispite 35 points from Kevin Garnett. Minnesota won the next game against Boston, but then suffered its second loss of the season series against the L.A. Lakers. The Wolves came back to win another five in a row, four of which were on the road. Seven of the 12 January victories were by six points or fewer and eight of the 10 Target Center games were in favor of the Wolves. Forward Kevin Garnett was named NBA Player of the Month, during which he notched 10 point/rebound double-doubles and averaged 25.8 ppg, 10.5 rpg and 4.9 apg. He also tallied 37 points in a 101-100 win vs. Indiana on Jan. 17. It was the same game in which Malik Sealy hit the winning three-point shot with 0.4 seconds left on the clock. Flip Saunders earned NBA IBM Coach of the Month honors, guiding the Wolves to a franchise-record 12-3 (.800) mark during January. Guards Terrell Brandon and Bobby Jackson each posted their first career triple-double with Brandon notching 27 points 14 assists and 10 rebounds at Philadelphia on Jan. 9 and Jackson recording 17 points, 12 assists and 11 rebounds vs. Sacramento on Jan. 31.

FEBRUARY (7-7, 32-24)

February began with five of the first seven contests for the Wolves occurring on the road and a four-game losing streak that was halted after a 103-91 win against Vancouver on Feb. 18. Forward Kevin Garnett represented Minnesota as a starter for the Western Conference in the 2000 All-Star Game on Feb. 13 at The Arena in Oakland where he tallied 24 points to lift his team to a 137-126 triumph. It was his third career All-Star appearance. The day before, Wally Szczerbiak had 13 points in 15 minutes in the Schick Rookie Challenge. Forward Sam Mitchell scored the 8000th point of his NBA career against Denver but then suffered a sprained left ankle on Feb. 18 and was forced to miss the next six games. Minnesota had its second-highest scoring night of the season in its win against the Clippers on Feb. 24, 116-91. The Wolves' four-game winning streak was ended by Charlotte on Feb. 29 as the Hornets completed a sweep of the two-game season series. It was the fourth time in the season that the Wolves had put together at least four consecutive victories. Anthony Peeler contributed 15 points in 25 minutes against the Hornets and scored his 5000th career point. Minnesota racked up over 100 points in five of the last eight games while holding opponents to fewer than 100 points in the final eight games.

MARCH (12-4, 44-28)

In their fourth and final win over Houston for the season on Mar. 30, the Wolves were able to post a 12-4 record for March, equaling the franchise record for wins in a calendar month (12-3 in January). In the previous game against Houston that month, Terrell Brandon was the leading scorer with 24 points, also marking the 8000th point of his NBA career. Minnesota later went on a six-game winning streak, its longest of the season, which was cut off by a two-point loss to Philadelphia at Target Center on Mar. 28, despite a club record set by Kevin Garnett for scoring 30+ points in four consecutive games. For the third time in the season and the fourth of his career, Garnett was named NBA Player of the Week. During games played Mar. 20-26, he led the Wolves to a 4-0 record by averaging 35.3 ppg and 10.0 rpg while shooting 67.9%. Garnett also poured in a career-high 40 points in the 109-106 victory at Boston on Mar. 22 that was decided after Anthony Peeler hit the game-winning three-pointer at the buzzer. The Wolves met New Jersey in the next game and Garnett scored 38 points to move past Doug West into second place on the Wolves' all-time scoring chart. Minnesota's 116-115 overtime victory that day set a club record for their 20th road victory of the season. The Wolves met Indiana on Mar. 31 and it looked like another close game between the two, but the Pacers took control in the second half and Minnesota lost the last game of the month, 109-85.

APRIL (6-4, 50-32)

For the sixth time of the season, the Wolves had a winning streak that lasted for at least four games or more. On April 4, Minnesota beat Atlanta, 86-76, setting a club record with its sixth OT victory of the season. By defeating the L.A. Clippers on April 6, the Wolves set a franchise record with their 46th victory of the season, surpassing their 45-win total from the 1997-98 season. On April 10 against Detroit, Kevin Garnett sank a turnaround jumper as time expired to lift the Wolves to a 102-100 triumph at Target Center and pushing them closer to a playoff spot. Meeting Vancouver at General Motors Palace that same week, the Wolves won 104-94 in two overtimes to sweep the series against the Grizzlies. Terrell Brandon, Wally Szczerbiak and Kevin Garnett all scored 20 points for the Wolves that night. On April 17, San Antonio beat Vancouver, giving Minnesota the sixth slot and a first-round matchup with Portland in the postseason. In the very last game of the season for the Wolves, they battled the Mavs for the lead without high scorer Garnett who did not dress due to a sore hamstring. Dallas finally overtook Minnesota in the last three minutes leaving the score, 113-107, but the Wolves still maintained a 26-24 record against the Mavericks, their highest victory total against any opponent. The Wolves were 18-6 in the Midwest Division and 32-19 in the Western Conference. Garnett finished the season with 57 double-doubles while Sam Mitchell stayed in the lead on the Wolves' all-time scoring chart with 6632 points.

WOLF TALES

For the first time in their history, the Wolves won the series against the Jazz (3-1)... Kevin Garnett scored 29 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead the Timberwolves past Utah, 89-84, at Target Center on Nov. 19... Minnesota opened up a 20-12 lead in the first quarter as the Jazz shot only 22.7% from the field... Karl Malone's three-point play early in the second quarter capped a 7-0 Utah run and cut the margin to one... However, the Wolves never relinquished their lead and Garnett finished the game with a slam dunk to make the final score 89-84... Malone scored 23 points for Utah in the first half of the Nov. 22 game, but the Wolves fought back in the third quarter, outscoring Utah 26-17... In the final quarter, the Wolves made only six of 21 field goals and Utah scored the last five baskets, winning 108-93... Malone finished with 34 points and John Stockton had 15 assists... In their second appearance of the season at the Delta Center, the Wolves carried a 31-19 advantage into the second quarter of the Jan. 19 game... Two three-pointers from Stockton brought Utah dangerously close to Minnesota, but a driving layup by Bobby Jackson followed by free throws from Malik Sealy and Joe Smith gave Minnesota a 91-88 win lead... The last game against Utah brought another victory for the Wolves, despite a showing of 35 points and 13 rebounds from Malone... Utah began to cut into the Wolves' 10 point lead in the last four minutes but Minnesota pulled out a 96-94 win.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA playoffs: the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record – regardless of division. The first round is best-of-five games and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-seven games.

In every series, the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matches, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First Round are teams 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the conference semifinals, the winner of teams 1-8 plays the winner of teams 4-5 and the winner of teams 2-7 plays the winner of teams 3-6.

The NBA Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-seven series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June, 1983. A vote by the NBA Board of Governors made the revisions effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowing 16 teams to qualify for the playoffs and changing the first-round best-of-three series to a best-of-five series.

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

Mission Statement

The Minnesota Timberwolves Community Foundation wants to positively impact the lives of the youth in our Minnesota communities, enabling them to make responsible decisions, and helping them to contribute to their own future.

Since 1989, the Minnesota Timberwolves Community Foundation has been a vital contributor to the Twin Cities community as well as to many communities throughout the state. Providing more than $2 million in charitable contributions over the past decade, the Timberwolves Foundation has created many new community initiatives, while providing necessary funding to many worthwhile programs and charitable organizations.

The Timberwolves Foundation has been a driving force behind many youth-related projects over the past 11 years, including: the Timberwolves Stay-in-School initiative, The NBA Team-UP Program, The Tickets for Kids program, Boys in the Hood Junior League, Jump Start to Reading, the Timberwolves Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday celebration, the Give-and-Go Basketball Leagues, the Timberwolves Holiday Hospital Tours and many others.

The Timberwolves Foundation strives to do more than provide financial support for these and many other charitable causes and organizations. The Foundation's goal is to create an interactive relationship that often includes tickets to home games, player and staff visits, including volunteering incentives for at-risk youth.

NBA Program (Never Be Absent)

The 2000-2001 season will mark the pilot year for the N.B.A. (Never Be Absent) program. It is an incentive program targeting middle school students. One St. Paul and one Minneapolis school will be selected for the first year. Students will compete with each other and as a class for prizes based on attendance. The prizes will include, but are not limited to, player appearances, tickets to games, pizza parties and Timberwolves merchandise. There will be a culmination event in May.

Jump Start to Reading

This program is designed to encourage fourth- and fifth-grade students to read at least four books each month during their leisure time. If a student achieves or surpasses their goal of four books, he or she will be rewarded with incentives provided by the Timberwolves and a participating sponsor. Each month, a player/staff member will visit the classroom which has read the most books. The player/staff member will either choose to read a short story or talk about a subject of his or her choice.

Thanksgiving Turkey Giveaway

Timberwolves players and coaches distribute several hundred turkeys to needy families and individuals each Thanksgiving. Coupons are sent to several area shelters who make certain they are given to individuals who need the assistance. The turkeys are distributed in the lobby of Target Center by the entire Timberwolves team.

Holiday Party for Kids

In an attempt to provide cheer and fun for under-privileged youth, the Minnesota Timberwolves host a Holiday Party for 200 children (ages 5-16) from local shelters and community agencies (location has yet to be determined). Along with a parent or guardian, the kids enjoy balloons, chats with Santa, face painting and a hot meal. Instead of receiving a wrapped toy, each child will receive a gift certificate good at any store at the Mall of America. In addition, Timberwolves players will be on hand to distribute the gift certificates and spread holiday cheer.

Hospital Tour

Timberwolves players and coaches visit area children's hospitals and shelters to distribute gifts and holiday cheer. Each Timberwolves player and coach participates in this annual act of giving. Many of the children are suffering from or recovering from serious illnesses and challenges.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Holiday Program

Each January, the Timberwolves host a special celebration to commemorate the life and work of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Students and fans are invited to observe the holiday by attending a special program. The format includes a national speaker, special musical performances by local and national acts, as well as appearances by Timberwolves players. All students participating in the N.B.A. program are invited to attend along with a family member, and other local community agencies are provided with complimentary tickets so families can attend this important event.

Tickets for Kids

The Timberwolves donate more than 15,000 tickets per season to non-profit agencies, schools and shelters. Season-ticket holders also donate unused tickets to this program for distribution. This program allows less fortunate individuals to see an NBA basketball game and visit Target Center. Individual and corporate grants for tickets are matched by Timberwolves players and the Timberwolves Foundation.

Taste of the Timberwolves

The primary fundraiser for the Timberwolves Foundation, this casual night of dining and interaction with Timberwolves players and coaches is a once-in-a-lifetime experience for a fan. Every year, more than a dozen of the Twin Cities' finest restaurants donate their foods and services to create an unforgettable buffet, while players and coaches take on all challengers in ping-pong, pool, free throw shooting, miniature golf and other activities.

Scholarship Program

Along with regional cable partner, MSC, the Timberwolves/Lynx provide five $2,000 scholarships to high school seniors who are enrolled in college programs for the fall semester. This past year, more than 600 applications were received from students throughout Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. The scholarships focus on community service, academic achievement and overall character.

Washburn Child Guidance Center

In 2000, the Timberwolves Community Foundation has selected Washburn Child Guidance Center as its "signature relationship". The partnership includes a $50,000 gift, volunteer and event support, as well as exposure and promotion during Timberwolves broadcasts and games for this non-profit agency. Washburn provides diagnostic and therapeutic services to children with emotional, developmental and behavioral problems in addition to support for families. This unique organization has been a leading provider in this field and an outstanding resource to the Minneapolis area for over 117 years.

Heroes in the Making

At selected home games, the Timberwolves will recognize "Heroes in the Making." These individuals will be cited for meritorious acts within the Twin Cities area. At each of the selected games, the Timberwolves will honor an individual who has committed an act beyond the scope and realm of their everyday occupational focus. There will also be a scoreboard recognition and an award presentation citing the individual's commendable act.

TeamUp

During the 1996-97 season, the NBA launched a new community outreach initiative designed to maintain the league's commitment to youth and education. The "TeamUp" program, targeting youth ages 11-18, promotes the importance of community service and recognizes young people who demonstrate a commitment to improving the quality of life in their communities, whether it involves protecting the environment, visiting a nursing home or helping others. The NBA allows each team to mold the program to its respective communities.

American Heart Association

In conjunction with the American Heart Association (AHA), the Timberwolves promote the importance of healthy living habits among children through the HeartPower program. The Wolves and AHA realize the importance of developing healthy living habits at a young age because many of the risk factors associated with heart disease and stroke are related to lifestyle choices that are developed in childhood. Developing heart-healthy habits in childhood may be the single most important factor in reducing the risk of cardiovascular disease in adulthood.

A.C.E.S.

A.C.E.S. (Athletes Committed to Educating Students) is an after-school tutoring/mentoring organization for inner-city elementary, middle and high school youth. At the elementary school level, the program incorporates area college and professional athletes into a sports designed curriculum that teaches youth a variety of school related learning activities through sports assignment. The middle school program focuses on building homework and study skills. "Study Buddy" tutors/mentors meet individually with the students to work on regular school homework. The high school program does not focus on direct service. A.C.E.S. assists students with joining a partner program that focuses on college preparation.
